

My offer – the short explanation

- My music is good but my marketing is crap.
- The planet is heading for environmental collapse...because of us.
- Much of my creative work has been directed at this concern.
- Things have now become urgent.
- My new album Rare Life has some songs that, I hope, will awaken people to the issues.
- I'd appreciate your help in getting this music and message to others:
 - a. listen to my music here on Spotify
 - b. if you like it, then become a 'follower' on Spotify
 - c. place some of the songs you particularly like on your public Spotify playlists
 - d. suggest to your social media friends that they also listen and become 'followers'
 - e. do anything else you can think of to encourage others to hear my music
 - f. tell everyone that my new album Rare Life has material that I hope will get people thinking and doing something about saving the world from environmental collapse .
- Do all that, and here's what I'll do:

If you send me an email confirming you've done these things: Email: contact@mopoke.com.au (I've made the address an image, to stop robots, but it means you'll have to type it), then I'll write back with a link to a private version of one of the 'environment' songs on my new album – before its release. If you write after the release, I'll send you something else that is not yet publicly available. I'll also keep you up to date with what I'm doing musically.

I will never give your email address to anyone – not anyone – and will take you off the list at your request.

If you'd like to read the more wordy version of what I'm going on about, then click here.

Thanks.

Colin Macpherson

Home